On Business Trip.

Attorney J. E. Russell left yesterday afternoon for Phoenix, where he will remain for a few days attending to some business and giving the legislature the double O.

Here From Wenden.

Fred C. Tatum, formerly a resident of this county and now living at Wenden, Yuma county, was a Prescott visitor yesterday, being here to look after some business matters.

Mining Business.

Geo. P. Harrington is in the city from Crown King, and reports general mining conditions as quite satisfactory, steadily development continuing on several properties.

Cil Man Here.

George MacLean, city commissioner of Phoenix, came up Tuesday night to remain here for several days looking after his interests in the United China Oil & Refining Company.

Going East.

Mrs. Sarah O. Collins of the Constellation section, is in the city for a few days' visit with friends, and is en route to Elmhurst, N. Y., to remain for the summer with relatives.

She came to the country last October for her health, which has been fully restored.

Buy More Cars.

W. S. Lowthian has returned from Phoenix, bringing three new Hummole autos for local trade, and states it is impossible to secure at present other makes, owing to manufacturing firms being employed in war work. He has orders placed for five machines and all are held up.

Back From Utah.

Mrs. Ben J. Stanford and three children returned last week from Cedar City, Utah, after an absence of over three years, and will probably reside at Verde. Mr. Stanford and two sons are coming overland, driving thirty head of horses. Two sons have been drafted into the army and are now at Funston.

Still Grinding.

Henry Brann, of the custom milling firm of Brann & Bickelstaff, was an arrival from Harrington on Tuesday and reported the plant running daily on two 8-hour shifts, dropping ten stamps. The principal patronage comes from the Ora Bella mine, which has several sets of leasers working, all making satisfactory returns.

Iowa Visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Burbank, of Muscatine, Ia., are again in this city to remain indefinitely for the health of a daughter, Miss Lillie Burbank, who accompanies them. A son, Lester Burbank, is also to arrive later, having been discharged at Camp Fremont, owing to being under age. He enlisted by falsifying his age.

Exploring Trip.

Dr. Hardy Burman arrived from Alameda, Calif., on Tuesday and is to meet in this city, Frederick C. Waite of Austin, Texas, and French Powell, of Atlanta Ga., all leaving later for the strip north of the Grand Canyon on an exploring expedition. They will outfit at Flagstaff, and drive overland to Fredonia, the gateway to that region, which is practically uninhabited, except for a few ranchmen. It is presumed that Mr. Waite is to investigate the country with the purpose of engaging in the range cattle business, which he is following in Texas. Mr. Powell is his cousin and is interested in a meat packing firm in the above southern city. Dr. Burman is a retired physician, and his two daughters are now in France in Red Cross hospitals. He is taking a vacation and desires to emulate Mark Twain in "roughing it" this summer.

Legal Mission.

Judge J. J. Hawkins is again in the city from Los Angeles to look after his varied interests, mainly legal, having clients in this section, and this trips to remain for several weeks.

Range Visitor.

E. C. Tatum, who has large interests in the Wenden country, visited the city yesterday on a brief business trip. He has developed a big water supply on the desert and reports his interests as flourishing.

Passing Through.

Brooks Bolton, of Lexington, Ky., arrived from Mare Island, Calif., yesterday where he had been visiting with a son in the navy, and after a few days with friends in this city, leaves for Jerome, where he worked for the Hill Copper Company many years ago. He is now secretary of the Southern Milling Company, which makes a specialty of feeding livestock and exporting cotton seed meal.

Fighting Family.

Guy and Roy Davis, of Skull valley, who are home on a short furlough from the naval training school at San Francisco, also have two other brothers fighting for Uncle Sam. They are James and Eli Davis, the former on the Atlantic coast in the navy and the latter a soldier at Camp Funston. All boys of the family, in fact, are in service, and each is eager to do his bit. During the Civil war the Davis family was renowned as fighters, a Union general, named Jeff Davis fighting conspicuously in big battles, while Jeff Davis on the other side was the president of the Southern Confederacy. So in keeping with the valor of the name the Arizona Davis family is toting the mark to the last.

man to perpetuate the fighting privileges as well established by this family.

(From Friday's Daily.)

Robert Southern.

Robert Southern and Charles King have gone into Apache county overland and will make locations of farming lands near Springerville. Southern until a short time ago was in charge of the Hildreth ranch in Wilhamson valley and is an expert farmer.

Back in the Navy.

Passing through yesterday for Mare Island, Calif., was Chester Carr, a former resident of this city, who enlisted in the navy at Holbrook. Three years ago he served for a short time on the cruiser Raleigh, and states that he could not "hold back" any longer.

Mohave Visitors.

Mrs. B. M. Munson, of Chloride, and sister, Mrs. Marguerite Goodsell, of Chillicothe, O., were arrivals Thursday and have gone to the Bradshaws to visit with relatives. Mrs. Goodsell is touring the west, while her husband is in the army as a captain of infantry.

Long Way From Home.

Lone Jordan, one of the celebrities in cowboy circles of this county, who figured conspicuously in Frontier Days in Prescott, is now at Camp Funston, but is out of place in his vocation as a ranchman. He was drafted into military service, and is now assigned to the medical corps. He is now familiarly addressed by Arizonans as Dr. Jordan, which title makes him feel like donning the war paint.

Brief Visit.

P. A. Crandall, a sheepman of Apache county, visited the city yesterday to meet his wife, who is en route to Florence, where a sister resides. Mr. Crandall is driving north and states conditions as a whole were favorable last winter in the Black Canyon region.

Mining Business.

O. L. Tawney, who has mining interests in Turkey creek district which are active, arrived Thursday night on business pertaining to the recent closing of the deal for the peck silver group to C. F. Batton. The latter is now in action in closing up arrangements to begin operating at once.

Flying Trip.

C. H. Hooker left yesterday for Los Angeles, to visit for a few days with his wife and son. He states Prescott is his home, and his Hassayamper hue is too deeply imbedded into his physique to think of making a change in color for any other town in the universe.

Climate Cures.

Mrs. Belle Long and brother, Robert Long, who came to Pine Crest several months ago, both being in poor health, returned yesterday to Los Angeles, both having been materially benefited. They carry away an excellent impression of the climate.

Condition Improved.

There are many in this city who will be pleased to learn that Mrs. C. B. King, mother of H. B. King, of the Coleman Brokerage Company, has passed the crisis of a recent serious illness in Los Angeles, and will recover. Mrs. H. B. King, who returned yesterday imparted this pleasing news.

Here From New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Crossman of Vineland, N. J., arrived in Prescott yesterday, expecting to remain here for several weeks for a visit with their daughter, Miss Sue. The visitors are very much impressed with the city and its environs, and may conclude to make this their permanent home.

Visitors Leave.

The mother and sister of Claude Ferguson concluded yesterday several weeks of a sojourn in this section, returning to Bakersfield, Calif., their home. While here they were at the camp of the Copper Queen, near Mayer, where Mr. Ferguson is superintendent.

Race Horse Coming.

Robert Shultz left for Phoenix yesterday to return in a few days with Nadah H., his fast running mare. She will be worked out for track events in this city during 4th of July week. Several other speedy animals also are to be brought to Prescott from the Salt river valley in a few days.

Making Headway.

Fritz Viethaler, foreman of the Tillie Starbuck, on Slate creek, was a visitor yesterday on business, and reported development as making headway, and ore conditions satisfactory. The main tunnel has reached 1,000 feet, and the tonnage in a good grade of silver ore is big. The property is now fast entering the stage where a reduction plant will soon be required.

Summer Visitors.
